REFLECTION by Diane Bergant CSA

Everything is new! There is a new law of love, a new heaven and earth that is established in the church, a new depth of communion there, and a new glory of God that shines forth from its members.

The new commandment that Jesus announces is more than tolerance or mutual respect. It requires self-sacrificing love. Perhaps the greatest obstacle to this love is the diversity discussed last Sunday. It is hard enough to love those who are like us; how can we possibly love those who are different? And how can we love those who do not love us? It is no wonder that the commandment is called new. It calls for something completely different.

The new commandment is the law of the new heaven and the new earth that are established in the new Jerusalem. Standards are entirely different there. The greater ones serve; the meek possess the earth; happy are the poor; woe to those who laugh. This is clearly a city that comes down from heaven, not one made by human hands. It is a city that embraces all who come to it. God dwells in the midst of this city, in the heart of this people. God dwells with them and they dwell with God.

Through this new love, this new heaven and new earth, this new depth of communion, the glory of God is manifested in a new way. The eschatological future is anticipated in the present. The age of fulfilment has dawned.

Love One Another
Today's Gospel comes from Jesus' Last Super discourse. He is about to die. His final words to his beloved disciples are: 'as I have loved you, you also must love one another'. In the end, all that matters is love, a love that is expressed most purely when we sacrifice ourselves for the well-being of others. When we love in this way we show that we are disciples of Jesus who laid down his life for us.

IN FOCUS
Everyday Love

Jesus said to love one another, and each of us tries in small ways to do just that. It is a given that we strive to love parents, siblings, spouses, children, friends. But even to those outside our intimate circles we do our best - on a good day - to offer simple courtesies and acts of kindness. We send a note of thanks to a writer who moved us, drop of a bunch of flowers to some do-gooder whom we felt deserved recognition, give an acquaintance an unexpected gift that we knew they'd really enjoy, hold the lift for someone who's rushing to catch it.

Share your skills with a community organisation in Asia or the Pacific to contribute to sustainable solutions to poverty. Our community partners have requested teachers, nurses, tradies and more to work alongside a local counterpart in 2020.

Extending ourselves in such innocent and selfless ways makes us feel good because we know we've made someone else feel good. We've let another person know that they have worth, that they are remembered, and most of all, that they are loved.

Now think of the small acts of kindness directed toward you by strangers or acquaintances. Someone offers you a seat on the bus when you're loaded down with packages, a co-worker runs an errand for you when you're having a particularly bad day, a driver lets you pass so you don't miss your exit, a colleague compliments you on your smile. These tender mercies signal to us that we, too, have worth, that we are remembered, and, above all, that we are loved. Thus God is glorified daily.
