REFLECTION by Greg Sunter

This week's gospel passage picks up one of the major themes that runs throughout the gospel of Luke: the message of salvation is not reserved exclusively for the Jews, but is for all people; Jew and Gentile alike. A number of times in this gospel, the writer makes a point of having Jesus relate this controversial and fairly unpopular message to his audience. Today's gospel makes clear that to gain salvation, you have to do more than just show up! Like those knocking on the locked door and claiming friendship, we can't just turn up at the last minute and expect to be received. Salvation – entrance into the kingdom of God – belongs to those who accept the message of Jesus and act on it for the rest of their lives.

The gospel makes plain to the Jewish people of the time that unless they accept the message of Jesus and act upon it, they will get a terrible shock ('weeping and grinding of teeth') at the coming of the kingdom. Those who believe in name only will find themselves looking in from the outside and will see the greatest prophets in the kingdom while they themselves are denied access. To further make the point, they are told that people from east and west, north and south will be welcomed into the feast of the kingdom. References to people from the four points of the compass always indicate people from other lands – non-Jews. Jesus tells his audience that people who are faithful to his message, even though they may be Gentile, will gain salvation before anyone who thinks they deserve it because of their birth or title. The kingdom must be earned through faithful effort, not by just turning up and claiming to be a believer.

REFLECTION FOR YOUNG PEOPLE

– by Lisa-Marie Calderone-Stewart

Life's problems can be seen as challenges that help you to grow well and to learn important skills. As God's creatures are imperfect, so we need to help one another toward a final perfection that is a gift from God.

What difficulty or crisis in your life has taught you a lot? Do you think you have grown from dealing with it? How? Discipline from parents and teachers and coaches is often not desired, yet it is usually given because of love.

What do you think motivates parents and teachers and coaches? Why do they do the things they do for you? What is their purpose as they attempt to give you discipline?

How have you benefited from the discipline and influence of parents, teachers or coaches? Have other adults in your life helped you become a more mature individual? Who are they and what influence have they had?

READINGS FOR NEXT SUNDAY:

Sirach 3: 17-20, 28-29

Psalm 67: 4-7, 10-11. R. cf.v.11

Hebrews 12: 18-19,22-24

Luke 14: 1, 7-14

105TH MIGRANT AND REFUGEE SUNDAY

“Take courage, it is I, do not be afraid!” (Mt 14:27).
It is not just about migrants: it is about our fears.

The signs of meanness we see around us heighten “our fear of ‘the other’, the unknown, the marginalised, the foreigner ... We see this today in particular, faced with the arrival of migrants and refugees knocking on our door in search of protection, security and a better future.

“Often, we refuse to encounter the other and we raise barriers to defend ourselves, refusing to encounter others is not human. Rather, we are called to overcome our fear and open ourselves up to encounter”.

Pope Francis (Sanrofano, 15 February 2019)

It is not just about migrants but also about ourselves, our fears and our hopes.

How is God encouraging and inviting us?

Who are we becoming?

What kind of society are we preparing for those who come after us?

GOSPEL CONNECTIONS.....

Remember Your Dinner Partner

Was Jesus talking about the church car park in this Gospel? Watch a church car park after Mass. See who lets others go first and who races to be the first out, cutting off other parishioners.

Or maybe Jesus was talking about the sign of peace. I remember one parishioner who refused to offer it to another because he was angry with him.

Or maybe Jesus was talking about who is welcome at church. I remember a parishioner who was angry when her church let homeless people spend the night in a parish building.

I think Jesus was talking about all of the above in this week’s Gospel. You see, going to church, where we eat and drink in Jesus’ company, is really pretty easy. It takes about an hour. But after the final blessing, some people think they’ve done their part for the week and don’t connect that “meal” with their behaviour for the next six days.

But following Jesus requires much more. The challenge we face is letting the Sunday Eucharist shape our lives all week long. How does your weekly meal with Jesus shape how you play sports, treat outsiders, live with family, work at your job, and act at school?

There’s another challenge in this reading. We might be surprised, Jesus says, by who we meet at God’s banquet in heaven. I’ve met homeless people who never go to church but are more compassionate than some people I know who go to church daily.

So go to church. Eat and drink in Jesus’ company. But remember your dinner partner for the rest of the week. And also remember he dines with a lot of people we’ll never see in church.

Principal announcement:

Some would be aware of the announcement made on Monday this week of my decision to accept the offer of the position of Head of College at St Stanislaus College, Bathurst, from the start of next year.

It was a decision that was taken with great angst, and was not taken lightly. I am still a mixture of emotions, one of them great sadness as I now prepare to depart the school at the end of the year. For a number of reasons, my family will stay on at St Matthews next year, so I will still remain as part of the St Matthews community. The CEDB has started the process of arranging the recruitment of the next Principal, and I am confident that the school is in a great place to move forward as we approach the building of the new campus. Thank you to all who have generously wished me well and congratulated me on the appointment. I appreciate the support immensely, particularly on what was a difficult day for me personally on Monday.
