The Catholic bishops of Australia have released the Social Justice Statement 2020-21, on the critical subject of mental health, in the lead-up to Social Justice Sunday on August 30.

The, To Live Life to the Full: Mental health in Australia today, encourages faith communities, governments and individuals to make mental health a priority.

Bishop Terry Brady, Bishop Delegate for Social Justice on the Bishops Commission for Social Justice, Mission and Service, has called on all Catholics to take up the message and challenges of the Statement.

"This is a timely message in the context of the COVID-19 pandemic. The pandemic is affecting many members of our parishes, schools and communities", Bishop Brady said.

"The personal feelings of anxiety and despair we all share at this time provide an opportunity to become more aware and active in fostering the mental health of all. Understanding mental health will help us to be aware of those who most need our support."

The Statement encourages parishes and local communities to be places of welcome and inclusion, overcoming the barriers and stigma often faced by people experiencing mental ill-health. It demands the commitment of governments and policy-makers to prevent so many people falling through the cracks of the mental health system. most need our support."

It also calls for the nation's commitment to address those policies that exacerbate the already precarious circumstances of First Australians and refugees and asylum-seekers.

The full Social Justice Statement To Live Life to the Full: Mental health in Australia today, can be read on line at http://bit.ly/SocialJustice\_2020

PRAYER FOR HSC STUDENTS

We remember in our prayers our young women and men as they prepare for the Higher School Certificate. We ask our Heavenly Father to give them calm hearts and quiet confidence in the knowledge that you hold them in the palm of your hand. Bless them with understanding and good memory. Give them the ability to grasp what is before them correctly. Holy Spirit, send them your gifts of wisdom and knowledge. We ask this through Christ Our Lord.
Amen

Twenty-First Sunday of Ordinary Time

The man came to the Scripture class seeking not only answers but ammunition. His Protestant friends were telling him that Peter was not the first pope. They had scripture passages to back up their claims. He was sure there was something in the bible he could use to counteract their arguments. Now the man was asking the instructor for three other Scripture passages he could use that would trump theirs! He was a bit disappointed when the instructor said that's not the way Catholics read Scripture - how he had wanted the equivalent of three aces to play during the next go-round with his Protestant interlocutors!

The story in today's Gospel reading from Matthew is a favourite in Catholic-protestant dialogue or even debates on the role of Peter and the development of the papacy. But the papacy is a long way from the setting of this particular story. Instead, if we read it on its terms, we see that Simon Bar-jonah confesses Jesus as the Christ. He recognises Jesus for who he is, and Jesus responds by saying this insight was given to him by the heavenly Father. Jesus then names him "Peter", a Greek term meaning "Rock" (though in Aramaic the term is Kephas). Prior to this, no person in recorded history had been named "Rock". It's as though Jesus named someone "Window." For us today, who are so familiar with the name "Peter," it sounds standard. But an antiquity, this nickname would have sounded odd. And for that reason, most scholars believe the name "Peter" goes back to the historical Jesus.

Jesus then says that on this "rock" (whether "rock" in this instance refers to the person Simon Bar-jonah or his confession of Jesus as Christ is debated) he will build his "church." The term "church" appears in the gospels only in Matthew, and only here in Matthew 18:17. Historically, churches developed later, so it seems anachronistic for Matthew (or any evangelist) to use the term during the historical ministry of Jesus. It's partially for that reason that the phrase is thought to be a Matthean addition. Even so, Matthew is informing, or reminding, his audience that Peter was a spokesperson for the group, confessed Jesus as Christ, but even this was not due to his insight but from a gift of the Father.

As Catholics, we read scripture holistically, not cherry-picking verses from here and there, and then applying them in a context divorced from their own. A Catholic approach to scripture seeks to understand the context in which the book, letter, or verse was written; the intent of the author, as much as possible; and how it corresponds to other Scripture. If we are looking for scripture verses to use in theological debate with other Christians, we are playing the wrong game.

Tap and Go Credit Card Facility

This week we have installed a Tap and Go Credit Card facility. Many of us no longer carry cash and this is a very convenient way to donate to the parish. Donations are in $5 lots - if you wish to donate more than $5 just re tap your card for the amount you wish to donate. The machine is located at the back of the church during Mass times.

Connect@home is a daily email provided by the Catholic Diocese of Bathurst. It invites individuals to enter daily into the beauty and power of the Scriptures. It offers a chance to be nourished and formed by the Word of God, especially in a time when gathering as a community for Mass is challenging.

Each morning, you will receive an email with a link to the daily readings set by the Church and a short reflection and prayer. You could do this sacred reading on your own, or with members of your household. This is a chance for us as a local church to connect with one another and with Jesus Christ, the Word made flesh, who is with us in all we are going through.
